

Gem of a Jeweller

Tucked away in the most unlikely spot in the village of Wivelsfield is bespoke jeweller Richard Talman. A charismatic and passionate individual, Richard has honed his craft to perfection over the years. He studied a City and Guilds diamond mounting course before starting his apprenticeship with a well respected goldsmith in Hatton Garden in May 1996. In 2000, he entered the UK Fine Jewellery Competition where he won 1st prize. This success secured him a place representing the UK at the World Skills Competition 2001 in Seoul, South Korea. This event saw him take a World 7th place and he was awarded an International Diploma of Excellence for his effort.

Only last month, January 2014 at the Wedding Industry Awards IN London Richard was elated to be voted the national winner!

Today Richard works beautiful pieces of art for couples preparing to tie the knot. Most unusually clients can visit the workshop to look on as Richard works with precious metal and gemstones to produce their stunning engagement and wedding rings.

Featured on this page are some examples of work by Richard Talman.
